

ration of war against Bulgaria pending a conference of the powers.
This action is believed to mark a sudden turn for the better in the Balkan situation, and may be the means of preventing a war.
All the disinterested powers, with the exception of Germany, are now agreed on the call for a conference. The Kaiser has not expressed himself.
Foreign Ministers Pichon, of France; Iswolsky, of Russia; and Dr. Stancoff, the Bulgarian agent in Paris, held a long conference today, at the conclusion of which they agreed Premier Clemenceau, with whom British Ambassador Bertie was in conference.
The announcement of the call for the conference and Turkey's willingness to hold off a declaration of war followed.
Premier Clemenceau stated that he considered the situation so much relieved that he would leave tomorrow night on a campaigning tour, to insure his re-election to the senate next January.

Will Not Discuss Bulgaria's Move

Charles S. Francis, ambassador from this country to Austria-Hungary, reached Washington last night. Mr. Francis was asked to comment upon the Turkish-Bulgarian situation, but said that he had no information, except that received through the press.
Nor did he have any comment to make upon whether Bulgaria's assertion of independence came as a surprise to him.

WANTS PROTECTION AGAINST STRIKERS

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Oct. 5.—The International Paper Company has called on Sheriff Bellinger for protection, fearing destruction of property by the strikers. On several occasions missiles have been hurled through the windows of one of the mills while the guards were attempting to sleep.

Death notices inserted in The Washington Times will, on request, be published in the next issue of The Baltimore News or The Philadelphia Evening Times without further charge.

HARPER CASE IS ENDED; HIS APPEAL WITHDRAWN

of the District. It has been found advisable, he continued, to wait until the civil suit is finished and believes that when that case has been heard, there will be no further proceedings.

The case against the former bank president was one of the first under the pure food and drug act, and was fought bitterly by both the defendant and the prosecution. Mr. Harper had been manufacturing a headache remedy for many years, and it was over the composition of this drug that the suit arose.

Shortly after the decision in Police Court, President Roosevelt summoned United States District Attorney Baker to the White House and it afterward was made known that he had instructed Mr. Baker directly to push the case against Harper in the Court of Appeals with all the vigor possible. The President was reported to have said that the fact that Mr. Harper was a rich man, should make it the more imperative that he be convicted. He also insisted that the case, being the first of any consequence under the new act, should result in a conviction for the moral effect it would have on other drug manufacturers.

Caused Comment.

After the announcement of the President's talk with the District Attorney there was much comment, not only in this city, but throughout the country. Congress, then in session, was quite interested in the action of the Chief Executive. There were one or two resolutions introduced, mostly by Democrats—asking the President to inform Congress by what authority he had summoned Mr. Baker and instructed him in the Harper case.

Through his attorneys, Mr. Harper gave out the following statement:

"I have today directed my counsel to discontinue the appeal which I took to the Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia from the Police Court of the District in the case of United States vs.

Harper, in which I was charged with violating the pure-food law. The reasons which actuated me in so doing are briefly these:

Result of Appeal.

"My counsel advise me that they have no doubt whatever that the result of the appeal, if it were prosecuted, would be a reversal of the judgment of the Police Court; but that such result would necessitate a re-trial of the case in the Supreme Court; and that as another trial is inevitable, it will be better to have such trial in the Supreme Court of the District in civil suit, which is possible under the present conditions, and in which the identical points are involved and can be tested.

"The position of my counsel, as well as my own, has always been that the case should have been originally tried in the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, the machinery of which is better suited for the trial of the difficult questions of law which the case presented. The United States Attorney preferred to force the trial of these questions in the Police Court, rather than in civil proceedings in the Supreme Court of the District.

"Another reason which actuated me in dismissing the appeal is that the only practical result of the verdict in the Police Court was to confirm the abandonment of the name which my preparation had borne for twenty years. Before the trial was instituted I had changed the name of the preparation, and it has been selling under this new name ever since, and there has been no material reduction in its sales. This remedy has been, is now, and always will be prepared of those same ingredients which have been so successful for a generation in relieving pain. I always have complied and always will comply with all requirements of the pure food act."

FALLS SIX STORIES.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—While a crowd was watching him remove awnings from the building at 177 Third avenue today, John Cantwell slipped on a window ledge in the sixth floor, and fell into the street. He was almost instantly killed.

VICTIM OF RABIES, MRS. DAY, IS DEAD

ELIZABETH, N. J., Oct. 6.—Mrs. Harper Day, of 16 Cherry street, died in her home today of rabies, while her husband sits in an adjoining room, fearing every minute that the disease will attack him, and that he, too, will have to be restrained until relieved by death.

In a neighboring house is Mrs. Samuel Doty, an intimate friend of Mrs. Day, who was bitten by the dog. She, too, is in a state of nervous collapse.

The dog, which was a pet in the Day home, was being led down the street by Mrs. Day a month ago, when he became entangled in his leash. Suddenly he began to show symptoms of rabies, and attacked his mistress. Five times he sank his teeth in her arm, hurling her to the pavement. Mrs. Doty saw the attack and ran to the rescue of her friend, when the dog set upon her, and bit her several times.

The dog then started up the street and met Mr. Day, who had heard the screams of his wife and Mrs. Doty. The animal fastened his teeth in Mr. Day's leg, and the letter-carrier who happened along, tried to free Mr. Day from the mad brute, when he was bitten too.

The dog was killed, and showed unmistakable signs of hydrophobia. All four victims came to New York, and were treated at the Pasteur Institute. It was thought all danger of rabies was confined to her physician that she knew she was inoculated.

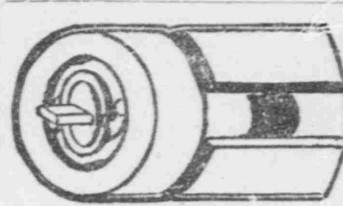

The letter-carrier has kept at work constantly, and his hands have diverted his mind. He, too, is nervous, now that Mrs. Day is dead, and the mental effect on him is feared.

PROCEEDINGS DISCONTINUE.

Ask the Doctor About it
If he prescribes oatmeal porridge and cream for you "to build up on" it will be steam-cooked oatmeal—not the raw kind that is sold as "rolled oats" and which requires sixteen hours' cooking to make it digestible.
H-O is the only steam-cooked oatmeal on the market. It is cooked three hours under high steam pressure by a patent process. Ten or fifteen minutes' boiling makes it ready for your table—and you have a dish that is appetizing and easily digested by the most delicate stomach. Ask your grocer for H-O.
